Object Code (also known as Expenditure Code or Account Number)

The object code is only relevant for expenditures. For all other types of accounts, the object code is arbitrarily set (usually zero). Object codes model the expenditure codes suggested by an older version of the Utah Uniform Accounting Manual*:

*Note: In 2013, the Utah State Auditor released a new Uniform Accounting Manual for reporting to the State's transparency website. The State Auditor allowed local governments to retain their existing account numbers but map them to the new account numbers for reporting only. The County chose to proceed in this manner rather than spending the many hours required to change all the account numbering. This methodology was also preferred by departments who did not want to learn new general ledger account numbers.

COST CENTER

The cost center has the following format:

CC-YY-DD-PPP

where CC is the two-digit department number, YY is a two-digit number representing the year (for example, 21 for 2021), DD is the division, and PPP is the cost center or program.

In certain circumstances, the cost center is used only to track projects. For example, the Health Department may want to know how much money was spent on immunizations or Public Works may want to know how much money was spent on a certain road, building, or park.

Other cost centers are balanced between revenues and expenditures. For these cost centers, a report or search by cost center will easily identify whether the cost center is balanced. The following cost centers should be balanced between revenues and expenditures (after the budget is adopted, the Budget Manager should also ensure that budget transfers involving these cost centers keep the cost centers balanced):

Commission (Expenses in 1-YY-11-100, 1-YY-12-100, and 1-YY-13-100 should be equal) WIC (23-YY-15-PPP should balance when aggregated) Foster Grandparents (23-YY-81-PPP should balance individually by PPP)

Senior Companions (23-YY-82-PPP should balance individually by PPP)

All cost centers within Fund 247 (80-YY-13-PPP should balance when aggregated, 88-YY-10-PPP should balance individually by PPP)

All cost centers within Fund 248 should balance individually.

All cost centers within Fund 250 should balance individually.

Many smaller departments do not require specialized tracking. As a result, management of those smaller departments may not know their cost center.

The following table shows the cost center department and division numbers for ongoing budgetary accounts:
