

Utah County Employee of the Month for May 2012
Curtis Wursten - GIS Analyst I
Information Systems - GIS Development

I would like to nominate Curtis Wursten of the GIS department as Employee of the month for May 2012. Curtis played a very important role in helping with the Voting Precinct Re-Districting process. Our role in the process only comes around every 10 years, and is very intense and detail driven.

Curtis using his skills and abilities was an important part of the process. Throughout the project he was very open and flexible to our needs as the County Clerk/ Elections Division. Curtis willingly relocated his work station to our Office during the height of the project. He also willingly joined us for some long days and a couple of late evenings to get the project done by the statutory deadline.

Curtis has a pleasant personality, gets along well with others, and is a pleasure to work with. His dedication as a County employee is very evident. Our Office also interacts with him on a regular basis with annexation submissions. In my interactions with him, he always carries out his tasks in a professional and timely manner.

Bryan Thompson

I couldn't agree more with Bryan's description of Curtis and I am very pleased that Curtis will be recognized for his work. One thing I would add is that Curtis, like his fellow GIS Division peers, are assigned a wide variety of projects in support of many different County departments and Curtis always approaches each project with the same level of dedication and personal attention that Bryan described. Curtis's work with elections was difficult, complicated and at times required a cool and calm resolve to do what it takes to accomplish the task. That perfectly describes Curtis in all of his assignments and he can be counted on to do his best to treat each project as if it is the most important work in the county. Those qualities more than qualifies Curtis for this special recognition.
