Review and Questions

The Droplet symbol is missing from the County web site. This is being addressed. It should be back on the site soon.

Update on Educational Instructor/Julia Cole

Schools are responding with good feedback from the presentation that Julia has been teaching to the students. Teachers want to schedule the course as part of their curriculum for the year.

Cancellations due to sickness on the instructor's part are handled by her rescheduling that school at a later date. She does not charge the coalition until she has completed the presentation for the missed school.

BYU Field Study

Cost estimates for the study to be conducted by BYU will be: study fees $3000.00 + supplies estimated at $2000.00. The estimated completion date is scheduled for April 2009.

Storm Water Compliance Training –February 12, 2009

Training to be held at the Utah County Health & Justice Building located at 151 South University Avenue in Provo in rooms 1600-1601 for the Breakfast and 2500-2501 for the training (1600-1601 used as overflow room for training). The training will be broadcast to rooms 1600-1601. Questions from members located in the downstairs rooms will be sent upstairs for the trainer to address. As of the deadline date of 1/27 - RSVP total was 100. Thirteen reservations were made the day after the deadline date bringing the total attendance to 113. Motion was made and passed to accept all who want to attend. The caterers will be asked to expect 150. This should allow for any extra individuals that will show up that morning. There will be enough funding to cover all that attend by using the funds that rolled over from the previous year's budget. Coalition members and their guests have been asked to arrive at 7 a.m. for the breakfast. All other trainees have been asked to arrive at 7:30 a.m. for the breakfast to help move the serving line along quicker. Rooms 2500-2501 set up will be a classroom style set up. The AccenaGroup trainer Don Reynolds has found it to be the best set up for training purposes.

Booths will be setup by ACP , ComTech, Ecopan and the Coalition. Coalition Members are encouraged to find other companies to set up booths.

A logo from each participating company can be added to the training material. If a company logo is to be used, a logo and approval to use it needs to be emailed to Don Reynolds as soon as possible. Contact Glen Tanner (Utah County Public Works) and he will send this information to Don Reynolds.

It was suggested that this training become an annual training sponsored by the Storm Water Coalition. This will be a continued discussion after the February training when we see what kind of response there is from those that attended.

State Storm Water Meetings

State will be asking each county coalition to contribute funds for contractor training. The amount requested is yet to be determined.

Steve Johnson - Orem City is developing a webpage for the State Coalition.

Inspector Training is expected for April or May and may be ready for road school.

Inspection forms will be modified so that the state will have the same construction storm water inspection form in all cities.

Vote was taken and Steve Johnson - Orem City was elected to represent the Coalition at the state meetings. Juan Garrido - Springville City will be the designated replacement.

State Coalition will be meeting February 11, 2009. They have requested to meet with the Utah County coalition during the third week of March. Glen will make arrangements for this meeting to be held at the Utah County Health & Justice Building.

Other Business

A list of conferences and trainings being conducted throughout the state was handed out. All coalition members that are interested are encouraged to attend.

Meeting adjourned at 10:30 A.M.

Next Storm Water Meeting: March 26, 2009 at 10A.M. at Utah County Public Works
